

WASHINGTON POST
AND TIMES HERALD

MAY 25 1965

Letters to the Editor

"Chips Are Down"

In discussing the "Science of Spying," Marcia Garfinkel's letter of May 19 questioned whether victory would be worth it if it had to be won at the price of, I suppose, "immoral tactics."

No price is too great to pay for freedom. The chips are down, we may even now be in the jungle. We have no option but to fight by the rules of the jungle, or surrender meekly. The only "rules" are those that lead to victory, preferably at no loss of American lives.

JIM ARGODALE.

Alexandria.